CONRAD N. HILTON FOUNDATION GIVES GRANT SUPPORT TO BRAGG HEALTH INSTITUTE

The Conrad N. Hilton Foundation has awarded the Bragg Health Institute grant funds to support its worldwide health education outreach. Dr. Patricia Bragg, Chairman for the Bragg Health Institute said, “We are honored to receive this financial support from the Conrad N. Hilton Foundation.” “It will help us in our mission to spread the message of healthful living to America and the world.”

Patricia Bragg and her father, Paul C. Bragg, a pioneer in the health food industry and originator of health stores, were personal nutrition and health consultants to hotel entrepreneur and founder of the international Hilton Hotel chain, Conrad Hilton who lived into his nineties. In commenting on Paul Bragg, Hilton said “I wouldn’t be alive without him!” He attributed Paul Bragg and the Bragg Healthy Lifestyle for saving his life and getting him on the road to health after an illness.

Patricia Bragg holds check presented by Conrad N. Hilton Foundation to Bragg Health Institute.
